John,

I just wanted to write a small note to let you know how much I enjoyed the Generations in the Workplace training session. I truly believe that working with different generations in the workplace is definitely possible with the right tools.

I also enjoyed the examples and the interaction with such a small group.

It provides everyone the opportunity to share their piece of experience within the workplace, covering several generations.

In addition, I must say I enjoyed your session so much I would actually be interested in possibly pursuing a career with Fathom Corporate Training. I enjoyed it that much!

Sincerely,

Lorenzo Orozco
